THE THEME:

Indian Traditional Culture in one of the important multidisciplinary discourse for discussing about various disciplines. It reflects in society, polity, literature, castes system, varnasrama, Dharma, artha, kama, moksha, ethnic inhibits, art & craft etc. As a serious puzzle for expression of 'Unity in Diversity' in India, the people joined hands equally responded to the state affairs in the annals of human being that they lived in unison with a traditional bond of unity. The people of the different communities not only worked hand in hand but also showed high degree of communal harmony. Moreover, it was the good feedback in the outcome of the different revolts that the people called themselves as Indian.

Thus a concept referring to a shared culture and way of life, especially as reflected in language, folkways, religious and other institutional forms, material culture such a clothing and food and cultural products such as music literature and art. This is often a major source of social cohesion and conflict. It may be mentioned here that much of the anxiety of the smaller ethnic group, particularly of the tribals, has been associated with the identity crisis which they have been facing due to various factors such a economic, social, cultural and political and with their search for roots.s
